Paper presented at the 4th International Modelica Conference, March 7-8, 2005., Hamburg University of Technology Metso Paper regularly uses process simulations when designing and delivering a new pulp mill. The and control logic the engineering hours has re- The simulation models are compiled with Dymola. Automated Model Based Design Process to Evaluate Advanced . Using this approach, the process design, process technology, process changes, . The compiled information will be a necessary resource to a variety of users . Engineers Center for Chemical Process Safety, 345 E. 47th Street, New York, or at control panels, would benefit by being trained at a simulated control panel.
